Health, the single most vital asset of every individual and family, and it always starts with the person. Everyone deserves access to quality care. Yet traditional health systems in Latin America are antiquated and leave too many people to navigate them alone. At Auna, we built a fully integrated healthcare platform that is modernizing care and increasing access through affordable healthcare plans.

Our value-based care approach prioritizes prevention and early detection, driving superior clinical outcomes and predictable costs. And when health challenges arise, our fully integrated hospital network across Mexico, Peru and Colombia is designed to manage them, with a focus on high-complexity care for diseases that drive most systemic health spending now and in the future, specialized in oncology, with over 35 years of clinical leadership and proven world-class survival outcomes.

Cardiology, driven by a focus on proactive prevention, covering comprehensive cardiac subspecialties, and consistently ranked among the region's best. Neuroscience, combining certified stroke response, advanced neurosurgical precision and dedicated neuro ICUS. Orthopedics and traumatology, delivering rapid emergency care, high-complexity surgeries and comprehensive postoperative recovery. Equipped with state-of-the-art medical technology and backed by in-house research centers, we are constantly advancing protocols and bringing the medicine of tomorrow to Latin America today.

Led by top specialists who turn advanced infrastructure into life-saving outcomes, because equipment does not treat patients, people do. All of it organized around the person, because at Auna, advanced medicine reaches its full potential through our integrated patient-centric care. From proactive prevention and early detection, to closely accompanying our patients and their families throughout every stage of their health journey, where every patient feels heard, understood and supported.

This human-first commitment serves as the backbone of our value-based care, a proven scalable model strongly positioned for sustainable organic growth. We seamlessly integrate health plans, high-complexity care and clinical research around the patient in one seamless ecosystem. Powered by more than 30 facilities across Latin America, we are accompanying 8 million lives, daily. This is Auna, leading the healthcare transformation in Latin America.
